Cosmetic Devices

Ultrasound Therapy	This facial therapy promotes cellular renewal and repair, tones facial muscles, increases blood circulation, encourages lymphatic drainage, combats puffiness and swelling and improves skin care product penetration.
High Frequency	High frequency increases oxygen to the skin, improving the overall texture, tone, and glow and helps to treat acne problems.
Oxygen Therapy/Infusion	Intended to rejuvenate and hydrate the skin, an oxygen facial uses oxygen under high amounts of pressure to apply various serums and hyaluronic acid to the skin. Hyaluronic acid is naturally present in the human body, and is thought to lessen the effects of aging by tightening and hydrating the skin.
LED / Light / Therapy	LED therapy is a non-invasive beauty treatment that exposes your skin to light energy, which is then absorbed into the surface at various depths to stimulate reactions within the skin. This promotes cellular growth and repair and gives you a healthy, youthful glow.
Radio Frequency	A radiofrequency facial is a non-invasive treatment that uses heat energy to create a controlled injury to your skin, which, in turn, prompts collagen and elastin production the two key proteins responsible for skin firmness, tightness, and smoothness.
Microdermabrasion	Microdermabrasion is a minimally invasive procedure used to renew overall skin tone and texture. It can improve the appearance of sun damage, wrinkles, fine lines, age spots, acne scarring, melasma, and other skin-related concerns and conditions.
Hydrodermabrasion	Hydrodermabrasion is a skin treatment that uses liquid to exfoliate the top layers of skin.
Microcurrent Duration	A microcurrent facial uses weak electrical signals to stimulate the muscles and skin. Some claim this can reverse the visible signs of aging, such as drooping skin and dullness.
Cryotherapy Duration	Cryo facials are an effective way to tighten and brighten the skin. They increase blood flow to the face, which can make the skin look healthy and plump.
